20. Describe in approximately 200 words how the qualification you are seeking will benefit society in South Africa. My Masters research is called the blood assignment problem, it is an optimization task which uses Metaheuristic implementations to try and minimize the amount of wastage and additional importation of blood units. This will in turn allow blood banks in South Africa to utilise blood units more effectively, and minimize additional expenditure. By adequately assigning blood more efficiently, this will in turn save more lives.
